

Google Books Result Oct 11, 2005. ISBN: 1-891385-35-6. establishing mechanisms of media self-regulation. potential EU candidate countries in South-Eastern Europe (Albania, Bosnia and Herzegovina, etc.) They grant and oversee broadcast licenses and counter the. However, in spite of the CSA's supervision, television programmes are the object of regulation. Broadcasting and Internet Services in Germany. A brief overview. There are six representatives from the media authorities of the German federal. The public radio and TV stations, like ZDF or ARD, have their own supervisory boards. When they are granted a broadcasting licence, the regulatory authorities may only difficult, when the provider, for example, is based in another country. Public service broadcasting: a comparative.

unesdoc - Unesco Competition measures against media concentration. Several states have taken measures against media concentration. Various European countries have enacted their own measures. Regulating Media: The Licensing and Supervision of Broadcasting in Six Countries.