Social media is a big part of life for many children and teens. It can be a powerful tool for connecting and expressing their thoughts and feelings. However, there are also potential risks, such as exposure to inappropriate content or cyberbullying. It's important for parents and caregivers to create boundaries and guidelines for social media use, ensuring that their children are using it safely and responsibly. This includes setting limits on screen time, encouraging healthy online interactions, and monitoring their children's activity online.
